

Operating in Canada since 2008, Babcock plays a critical role in national defence. Focused on delivering engineering and critical support services to defence and civil markets, we are trusted to support members of the Canadian Armed Forces and local communities.

As a long-standing Government of Canada partner, we understand Canada's defence and security needs. Drawing on decades of global experience, we deliver fully integrated solutions tailored specifically for Canada and its unique environment.

From submarines beneath the waves, to helicopters and waterbombers above the clouds, we ensure our services and assets are equipped to fulfill our customers missions wherever, whenever, and however needed.
